The Five Rights of Faculty Development

RIGHT TRAINING

New webinars are being offered each month. Topics are relevant, practical, and user-friendly, with take-home information you can use immediately. Nursing contact hours are also available for many of the sessions. Below are just a few of the webinars being offered. Find a complete list at www.nursetim.com.

Pharmacology Across the Curriculum: Are Your Students Ready for NCLEX®?

Focus on key strategies for helping students address the increasing emphasis on pharmacology in the NCLEX® and the increasing demand for safe practice in the healthcare industry.

Concept Maps in Nursing Education

A concept map can be developed to foster the student's ability to show relationships among the components of the nursing process and ultimately improve the ability of the student to critically think about the situation.

The Assumptions Behind the NCLEX®

The 2010 NCLEX-RN and 2011 NCLEX-PN are the result of 2008 and 2009 nursing practice changes and other influences. Gain an understanding of how the National Council implements changes in practice, so you can modify your experiences to best prepare learners for success.

Best Practices for Improving Student Success and Retention

This 3-part series provides nurse educators at all levels valuable tools for helping students succeed. Participants will explore the challenges in student success and retention, discuss best practices and strategies to overcome those challenges and focus on skill sets faculty need to develop.

Speakers include: Julia Aucoin, DNS, RN-BC, CNE; Diane M. Billings, EdD, RN, FAAN; Tim Bristol, PhD, RN, CNE; Jo Carol Claborn, MS, RN; Michele Deck, MEd, RN, LCCE; KT Waxman, DNP, MBA, RN; Deanne Blach, MS, RN; Donna "Iggy" Ignatavicius, MS, RN, ANEF; Anne Brett, PhD, RN. Visit www.nursetim.com for a complete listing.

Test Item Writing: Tips for Success

This online workshop will provide practical, usable information to get you started on test item writing. Participants will learn how to interpret the Job Task Analysis from the National Council, identify critical subject material for test item content, and begin to construct test items.

Team Building: Effective Strategies for Faculty who make a Difference

Learn strategies and processes essential for effective team building in today's competitive and technologically innovative academic environment. Participants will also learn how to stimulate the "team" mentality, inspire collaboration and facilitate overall team building and group effectiveness.

Succeeding as a Nurse Educator

This webinar provides tips for succeeding as a nurse educator. The presenter will discuss how to survive the first years of an academic appointment, how to balance expectations for teaching, service and scholarship, and how to take the next steps in developing a career as a nurse educator.
